

Quarantings Portraits

What are the things important to you during this stay-at-home quarantine?

Visual Challenge: Create an arrangement that shows you and things that are or have been important to you during the quarantine brought on by COVID. Thoughtfully arrange the objects to reflect one or more of the elements and principles of design

Enduring Understandings:

- Artists express ideas, values, feelings, beliefs and ideas important to them. This can to help them process, understand, make commentary and/or share the impact of events and experiences.
- Artists use the elements and principles of design such as repetition and pattern to create dynamic, visually interesting compositions

Materials: Collect 20+ objects that are important to you

Resources:

- PowerPoint
- Gregg Segal

Materials: Objects you have on hand at home.

Steps

1. Research ideas (see above)
2. Collect objects important to you during this time. Experiment with arranging them in different ways.
3. Have someone take the photo of you and your arrangement.
4. When you have created an arrangement you like, take at a to upload to Microsoft TEAMS
 - Make sure it includes YOU and objects important to you.
5. Reflect on your artwork REFLECTION FORM

Visit artboxadventures.net